JOB PRINTING, OF ALL KINDS, EXECUTED AT THIS OFFICE WITH TASTE AND DESPATCH.

A Fourth States Prison.

It appears that the necessity of a fourth States Prison in this State is advocated by some parties, to provide for the wants of criminals, and some of our cotemporaries are setting up claims for the location. The Advertiser at Elmira thinks that place would offer a convenient location, as the home patronage would nearly support one. The Le Roy Gazette on the other hand thinks Le Roy would afford a better atmosphere and more stone for the purpose of building. It is a little queer that these editors should be so anxious to have an establishment of this kind so near at home.

THE PEACE.—The London Daily News in discussing the turn of events in Italy, says that the just hope and expectations of Italy are deceived. It adds, history will call the Emperor to a strict account for having made war on false pretensions, and signed a mock and selfish peace—a peace that leaves Austria impregnable fortified in Northern Italy—that connects Central Italy to the patronage of the Pope, and to the constant menace of military intervention on the part of the Pope's patrons and protectors—that takes no account of the welfare of the people, and substitutes for national independence a confederation under lock and key of Austrian garrisons.—The Emperor of France has sown the seeds of future war, and the closer we examine the pretended pacification the more futile and iniquitous it appears.

A chap calling himself Dr. Samuel Haskinson, was recently arrested in New York for practicing a swindle, in pretending that he could transmute base metals into gold and receiving money for it. He advertised the manufactured article at $15 per pound, guaranteeing it to be equal in quality to California gold and saleable to Jewellers for $115. Strange as it may appear, this man received thousands of letters, enclosing sums of from $5 to $100, for this base metal. How wide avarice opens the door for gullibility.

The North Briton reports icebergs in great numbers on the Eastern Coast, which no doubt have much influence over the changes of the weather this season.

SOME ON BARRIS.—A Mrs. Rush, a "widow" woman living in Milwaukee, has recently been delivered of three children at one birth. This makes the third time she has violated the natural law of fecundity.—Exchange.

The poor lone widow "does things with a Rush." Her being a widow is we think, accounted for by the fact that being overbearing in her ways, her husband was unable to live with her.—Statesman.

The mystery seems to be that being a poor lone widow, where does she get the babies?

The frozen well at Brandon, Vt. has attracted crowds of savants to that place this season. Scientific persons in that vicinity ascribe the phenomena to an iceberg, and that originally, or at some remote period in the long past, that part of America was the head of the sea. This hypothesis is sustained by the fact that several years ago, in building a railroad between Clamont and White River Junction, the remains of the Sullivan Railroad, the bones of an aortic whale were found on one of the highest points of land. All the land near the well is frozen at a depth of a few feet below the surface. An interesting scientific report on the subject is understood to be forthcoming.

SCHOOLMASTER.—Mr. John S. Foulck has been appointed Principal of one of the Chicago schools at a salary of $1,200 per year. We are not informed as to his age. Mr. M. J. Oatman (formerly of Balaia) has been recommended by the Superintendent of the Schools at Cleveland for the Principship of a school in that city.—Buffalo Express.

A pin has as much head as a good many authors, and a great deal more point.

To Make Little Ones Healthy.

We have read much about the education of the young, and have heard many sage remarks about the importance of education. But do not people think too much of mental, and too little of physical education? We think they do. Children now-a-days, must go through a regular course of hot house forcing, commenced too, before their minds are properly prepared to appreciate their exalted privileges, and before their bodies are at all fitted for the constraint and constant depleting powers. Rather defer all education a few years, and prepare both body and mind to undergo the necessary demands upon them. Until such time don't keep them caged up like canaries, or shut in the house like plants, until they become thin and pale. Take off their finery, put on substantial garments, and let them run in the dirt if they wish to—make mud pies, and dabble in the sand. Turn them out, boys and girls, let them romp, and snuff the pure uncontaminated air of heaven. They will be all the happier and healthier. Let them get tanned, who cares. Leather must be tanned before it is fit for use, and boys and girls must go through a health-giving process, to fit them for the school-room and for active duties of life. Do this with your children and they will be longer-lived, and better props and supports for your declining years.—Utica Advertiser.

The Manchester (N. H.) American has the following bit of personal gossip: "Seven years ago an English boy of 17, a stranger, engaged to work for us at type-setting, with which he had an indifferent knowledge. He was John Bull all over, persistent, stubborn and industrious—settling type by day and reading law in Little's building at evening. Some eight months passed, when he told us confidentially that a fortune was due his family in England from the recent decease of an uncle. His father was poor and aged, and he himself, was the only claimant who was able to look after it. The next week he took passage for Liverpool. It was two years before we heard of him. Then he returned jolly and radiant with a fortune for himself and family of over $60,000. We were anxious for an explanation of the strange success of the almost penniless adventurer. "Puck and Pam" had done the work. He applied to the Foreign Secretary, and showed that persistence and courage which won him the influence and advice without which his efforts would have been utterly useless.—He is now a thrifty young lawyer in Wall street, and would knock down any Englishman who should dare disparage the old British premier."

WHEAT HARVEST.—The Detroit Daily Advertiser of Saturday says there is now about to be marketed at this point one of the heaviest crops, of the best quality, of wheat ever raised in the State of Michigan. Samples already brought in surpass any we have ever seen before, East or West. In Wisconsin the harvest will be gathered in all this week. Samples of the new crop, indeed, are already on Change in Milwaukee. The berry is large and well filled.

At the close of last week, a gentleman who passed through Canada, on the line of the Gt. N. Railway, reports that wheat was being cut along the line of the road, and that farmers were expecting more than an average crop. Spring grains, also, with the exception of a few fields of oats, gave promise of an abundant yield.

OMITTING TOO MUCH.—A green, good-natured, money-making, up-country fellow who said everything duly, "got things fixed," and struck up a bargain for matrimony. Having no particular regard to appearances, the parties agreed to employ a not over-wise country justice to put on the tacking. He commenced the ceremonies by remarking that "it was customary on such occasions to commence with a prayer, but he believed he would omit that." After tying the knot, he said "it was customary to give the married couple some advice, but he believed he would omit that. It was customary too, to kiss the bride, but he believed he would omit that also." The ceremony being ended, the bridegroom took the justice by the button-hole, and clapping his finger on his nose, said: "Squire it's customary to give the magistrate five dollars—but I believe I'll omit that."

The latest advice from Utah state that a movement is on foot among the Mormons to abandon Polygamy. It is becoming exceedingly unpopular. The women find the views of their "States" sisters differing materially upon the respectability and virtue of such alliances; and many who doubtless embraced the system conscientiously, are from the same motives, with experience added, forsaking it, while a greater number who have been "rouned" into this practice, are fast throwing off the shackles of priestcraft, abandoning their illegitimate lords, and boldly returning to their former homes, habits and names.

Some descendant of Solomon has wisely remarked that they who go to law for damages are sure to get them.

JOKES ABOUT JUDGES.—A Judge having fallen asleep, the president of the court, who was taking the opinions of his brethren, asked him for his.—
"Hang him! hang him!" said the roused sleeper.

"But it concerns a meadow!" returned the surprised president. "Mow it! mow it!" cried the other. There is a somewhat similar story extant of a Scottish judge, who, having been asleep, waked up just as the counsel pleading happened to say, "Now my lord, there is a lien on the property."—"If there is a lien on the property," interrupted the somnolent judge, to show that he was attending to the case, "decidedly it ought to be chained." But here is the last story of the kind we shall offer. A young judge, newly appointed to an inferior court having had a cutpurse before him, was told that the criminal should be condemned to lose an ear.—He accordingly drew up the sentence himself, and next court day, proceeded to read it: We have condemned and hereby do condemn the said criminal to have his ear cut off.—"Which ear?" asked the prisoner sharply. The Judge taken by surprise, replied, touching one of his own ears, "Why, this one."—"Very well, very good," said the criminal: "I shall not appeal; and what is more I will cut it off myself, if you like!"

GEORGE W. HINCKLEY, a lawyer has been serving out a term of imprisonment in the Madison County jail. During the period of his incarceration, he had served upon him a notice to set aside a judgment he had recovered in the Supreme Court.—Mr. Hinkley opposes the motion raising this knotty question, which will probably traverse the Judicial branch of government, before it is settled:

"That an attorney in jail by law is shut up from the business of the world without, and thereby precluded from attending Court, and during his imprisonment was temporarily dead; and serving notices of motion on an attorney thus situated, was equivalent to making use of the dead to judiciously rob the living, which dependent believes is irregular, illegal, unconstitutional and void."

NOT BAD.—The following story, from the New York Evening Post, is one of the best "childish views" we have seen for a long while:

A young woman was examining a class in Sunday school; bowing to a lad of large size, she put the question, "Who made you?" He could not tell. She then asked a little lad, who replied, "God made me." She proceeded to reprove the overgrown boy for his inability to answer a question, which was so readily done by one not half his size; when he braced himself up potpourriously and said, "I should think he might be over. 'Taint but a little while since he was made."

THE WRONG BOY.—A country school-teacher, preparing for an exhibition of his school selected a class of his pupils, and wrote down the questions, which he would put to them on examination day.

The day came and so did the young hopefuls, all but one. The pupils took their places, as had been arranged, and all went on glibly until the question came for the absentee, when the teacher asked:

"In whom do you believe?"
"Napoleon Bonaparte!"
"You believe in the Holy Catholic Church, do you not?" asked the teacher.
"No!" and pupil, amid roars of laughter, "the boy who believes in the church hasn't come to school to-day; he's home sick asked."

Father Finetti, Catholic clergyman of Brooklyn, Mass., finding that his entreaties to his parishioners to stop the selling of liquors to be of no avail, has caused three of them to be prosecuted under the law, and on Tuesday they were examined before a Justice of the Peace, who passed the usual sentence of fine with twenty days in the House of Correction, from which they appealed to the Superior Court. Father Finetti was in Court, and stated that for three years he had used every means to induce the Irish to refrain from selling liquor.

The most distinguished man living in Christendom probably in his line of business, is one Johannes Schlottenbeck, aged 68, living at Markheldenfeld, Bavaria, who is the father of 36 children half boys and half girls. It has taken three mothers to raise this abundant family, the last of whom, still living, has given birth to 15 of the children.

In New York, a sign immortalizes a "Fashionable Tailor" by adding, under his name, "Children's made to order;" what they mean is a mystery, unless we think to substitute "clothing" for a patent piece of carelessness perpetrated by the printer.

A WHOLE TRAIN LOADED WITH APPLES.—Fifteen cars arrived at Pottsville on Friday, over the Norfolk and Petersburg Railroad, loaded with apples from the adjacent counties. This immense quantity of fruit was shipped on Saturday evening in the various steamers for New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore.

Arrival of the Steamship Europa.

SACKVILLE, N. B., July 27.

The R. M. steamship Europa, Capt. Leach, left Liverpool at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 16th inst.

The news of peace is fully confirmed, but no further particulars had transpired beyond the fact that the Princes of Tuscany and Modena are to return to their states.

Napoleon was on his way home and was expected in Paris on the 18th, when further details will be afforded. In his address to his soldiers he says that peace was concluded because the contest was about to assume proportions which were no longer in keeping with the interests France had in the war.

The Emperor of Austria was on his way to Vienna. He says in an order of the day that he yielded to the unfavorable political situation because his natural allies did not as expected come to his assistance.

The result of the treaty is generally trusted in England.

The Sardinian Minister had resigned, and Count Arrese had been charged to form a new Cabinet.

Count Cavour is reported to have resigned, on account of the terms of peace being unsatisfactory.

Mr. Wm. E. Burton, of New York has had three persons arrested, on a charge of libelling him by drawing up a statement accusing him of trying to induce one of them, who was the gas man of his the street in Broadway, to burn that establishment down, in order that Mr. Burton might get the insurance money, to cover his alleged heavy losses. Strange case this! The parties accused waived examination, and gave bail in $500 to answer at Court.

Gen. Robert B. Campbell, United States Consul in London, who presided at the Fourth of July celebration in that place, is among the oldest living graduates of the South Carolina College, although his name has the obituary mark in the general catalogue of the college. He was formerly a Representative in Congress from the Pee Dee District.

According to the latest London papers there is reason to believe that Mr. Cobden is not unlikely to be appointed to the important office of Governor-General of Canada. Such a proposition has been discussed in high quarters, and it is said that when the opportunity for putting it into motion arrives, Mr. Cobden will be prepared to accept the honor and responsibility it will impose upon him.

An exchange remarking upon the weather says: "Really, this is hot weather!" A lady started for town the other day with a basket of eggs and a pan of butter. When she arrived at town, her basket was full of half-grown chickens, and there was nothing in her pan but a little sour milk, a lock of red hair, and a quantity of rock salt.

A laboring man in the interior of China can live comfortably on food costing one cent per day. A contemporary says:—We should like to live in China. Many of our subscribers think it costs us less than that sum to live in this country.

It is a remarkable incident that the 15th of August, the day on which the Armistice just concluded is to terminate, has already been kept as a holiday in France, it being the day upon which the Great Napoleon was born.

A pretty girl attended a ball on the 4th at Oshkosh, Wis., decked off in short dress and pants. The other ladies were shocked! She quietly remarked that if they would pull up their dresses about the neck as they ought to be, their skirts would be as short as hers!

An exchange says:—The report that a charcoal wagon exploded yesterday, killing the driver and one horse, needs confirmation.

JUST PUBLISHED, ITALY, AND THE WAR OF 1859.

Giving a history of the causes of the War, with Biographical sketches and finely engraved portraits of its Heroes, together with the official accounts of the Battles of Montebello, Palestro, Magenta, etc. etc. and Maps of Italy, Austria, and all the adjacent countries, by

MADAM JULIE DE MARGUERITES. With an Introduction by Dr. R. SHELTON MACKENZIE, handsomely bound in one volume, 12mo. cloth.

PEI E 3135. And published by G. G. EVANS, 429 CHESTNUT ST., PHILADELPHIA.

"ITALY AND THE WAR OF 1859."—This handsome volume, written by Madam Julie de Marguerites, and suitably illustrated with Maps and Portraits has just been published by G. G. Evans (the original Gift Book Publisher) of Philadelphia, at the low price of $1.25 and is as well timed as it is well executed. The design is to show Italy in her Past and Present, so that the reader may understand on what grounds she bases her expectancy of a glorious future, with this view the author, who has travelled largely through Europe, and has resided for a considerable period in Milan, with visits to the other great cities of Italy, describes places with which she is acquainted, and personages whom she intimately knew. The statistics of the various States now engaged in hostilities, are given, with biographical sketches of the Sovereigns generally, and Statesmen, whom the war has thrown into prominence. A great deal of personal anecdote is introduced, which very much adds to the spirit and acceptability of the work. The causes of the war are fully and fairly developed, and there is appended an authentic account of the war itself up to the present time, including the official reports of the various battles, and the chivalrous exploits of General Garibaldi, the gallant Guerrilla leader.

We notice that in an introduction to the work, Dr. R. Shelton Mackenzie, Literary and Foreign Editor of "The Press," (Philadelphia) very warmly eulogizes its designs and execution.

A copy of the book, and a handsome present, will be sent by mail, post-paid, upon receipt of $1.25 for the book, and 25 cents for postage.

A new Classified Catalogue of Books and Gifts, with inducements to Agents, will be sent free, on application.

JUST PUBLISHED. LECTURES FOR THE PEOPLE

BY THE REV. HUGH STOWELL BROWN, Of the Myrtle Street Chapel, Liverpool.

FIRST SERIES.

With a Biographical Introduction by DR. R. SHELTON MACKENZIE.

Published under a special arrangement with the Author. One volume, 12mo., cloth, with a Steel Portrait. Price $1.50.

OPINION OF THE ENGLISH PRESS.

"We have read Mr. H. S. Brown's 'Lectures' with much satisfaction. Mr. Brown knows how to speak to the people. He has almost every qualification for it. If we may judge from his printed addresses, there is an earnestness and a plainness about him; but all is beautiful as the breeze on the hill. There is no claptrap; he is both plain and earnest; and he is earnest for a cause which is not only just, but a wise Christian man's righteous hatred of it, who knows how to look on those who are degraded as his brethren. He speaks to the people almost as one of themselves, only from a higher level; and, though he uses their daily phrases, yet he does not thereby surrender to vulgarity.—He has a happy acquaintance with our homely common sense, proverb, and supplies them tellingly. There is no affectation of extraordinary 'concern for the poor' or their 'soul'; but there is that real earnestness which can afford to dispense with pretension, and to express itself simply in calm but brave and sensibly earnest endeavours. The proverb, 'Much cry and little wool'; you may reverse in his case. His true desire to benefit the people is partly shown by the pains which he takes to collect and prepare the statistics of vice, poverty, disease, &c. In order that his well-merited facts may speak for themselves. The genuineness of his earnestness is evidenced by the cheerfulness with which he tells, along the highway of common sense. He has no recourse to violence, unflattering charges, and is too strong for exaggeration. Truth is enough for him; would that there were no distinction! While he faithfully touches the worst vices, yet you never feel that the speaker himself must have a coarse taste or prevent imagination. Those Sunday afternoon lectures are not 'sermons'; nor intended to be. In them he grasps with acknowledged evils; but still, while opening the eyes of the people to the real nature of much of what their daily life too often is, and showing what it might be, he is ever animated of the Gospel of Christ, chargeable with even seeming to let them go away with the impression that saying else, and our the Kingdom of Heaven, is the first thing to be sought. In Mr. Brown we have a man who, we should judge, are about to go where any clowns of God's creatures are contented, for he is strong, and his strength is holy."—Monthly Christian Spectator.

A copy of the book, with a splendid gift, will be sent by mail post-paid, upon the receipt of one dollar and twenty cents.

A new Classified Catalogue of Books and Gifts, with inducements to Agents, will be sent free on application. Address all orders to G. G. EVANS, Publisher, 429 Chestnut Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

WYOMING CO. AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—We have received from E. G. Babbitt, Secretary of the Wyoming Co. Agricultural Society, a neatly printed Pamphlet containing the Constitution, By-laws and list of officers of this Society, together with the premiums for 1859. We judge from this pamphlet that the Society is in a highly prosperous condition; printed at the Warsaw Mirror office.

A GREAT IMPROVEMENT.—We see the Central Railroad Co. is filling in the sunken lot east of the Depot, between the Central and Buffalo N. Y. and Erie tracks, which will be not only a great improvement in the appearance of the vacant grounds about that building, but will add much to the convenience of those who drive to and from the cars. To move so much earth from a distance as is required to level up this piece of ground is decidedly a heavy undertaking, but with twelve or fifteen car loads at a time, the chasm is made to grow gradually smaller and beautifully low.

The papers were mainly engaged in speculations upon the sudden conclusion of peace and its results.

Letters from Paris assert that French discontent prevailed there in regard to the terms of peace and the result of the war, though the peace itself gave general satisfaction.

The Siecle, the organ of the French liberals, is dissatisfied, and says France will have everything begin in a few years if ministerial influence is suffered to abate in Italy. It calls for the expulsion of the petty Italian Princes, the confederates of Austria.

The Emperor Napoleon had quitted the seat of war and was en route for France. He is expected to proceed direct to St. Cloud and defer his entrance into Paris till he make it at the head of the army.

The Emperor and King of Sardinia arrived at Turin on the 15th amid enthusiastic acclamations. They were met by Prince Carignano and Count Cavour.

The Emperor of Austria left Verona for Vienna on the morning of the 14th. His order of the day published at Vienna 12th says that Austria commenced for the maintenance of her sacred treaties, relying on the devotedness of her people, and bravery of her army and on her natural allies. Not having found allies, Austria yields to an unfavorable political situation. The Emperor cordially thanks the people as well as the army who have again shown that their sovereign may confidently rely on their devotedness, if any new struggles should arise. The interview between the Emperor at Villa Franca is said to have lasted nearly the whole day.

The Paris Moniteur publishes a proclamation by the Emperor, announcing to the soldiers the basis of peace. It is to the following effect:

The principle aim of the war is obtained, and Italy will become for the first time a nation. Venetia, it is true, remains to Austria, but she will, nevertheless, be an Italian province, forming part of an Italian province, forming part of an Italian confederation. The union of Lombardy with Piedmont, creates for us a powerful ally, who will owe to us its independence. The Italian government which have remained inactive or which have been called back into their positions, will comprehend the necessity of salutary reforms. A general amnesty will obliterate the traces of civil discord. Italy henceforth will be mistress of her destiny, will have only herself to accuse, should she not progress regularly in order and freedom. You will soon return to France; a grateful country will there receive with transport those soldiers who have raised so high the glory of our arms, at Montebello, Palestro, Turbigo, Magenta, Solferino, and Solferino; who in two months have freed Piedmont, and have only stopped because the contest was about to assume proportions no longer in keeping with the interests of France in this formidable war. Be proud, then, of your conquest—proof of the results obtained—proof, especially, of being the well-beloved children of that France which will always be the great nation so long as she shall have heart to comprehend noble causes, and men like you to defend them.

(Signed.) NAPOLEON.

Vallejo, July 12th.

The preliminary conditions of the treaty of peace are thus announced in the official Austrian correspondence:

Austria and France will support the formation of an Italian confederation to which Austria accedes, Lombardy as far as the line of the Mincio is to be given up. Mantua, Peschiera, Borgoforte, and the whole of Venetia.

The Prince of Tumbay and Modena are to return to their States. A universal amnesty is to be granted. The Vienna correspondent of the London Times says those applications were made to the Emperor of Austria before he would consent to the armistice. The overtures were made direct to Napoleon for the purpose of preventing the mediation of neutrals. The same correspondent says the Pope was barred in office at Milan, and that a very unfriendly feeling had sprung up between Napoleon and Victor Emmanuel. The Monitor of Friday contains the following:

Batavia, July 11.

The Augsburg Gazette alleges that the cause of the armistice was the existence of a danger on the part of the French army, but to this we can give a formal denial. The military state of the French army was excellent, and exceeds even the hopes which could be entertained, from the heat and fatigue endured.

The King of Sardinia had issued the following proclamation to the people of Lombardy: Heaven has blessed our arms, with the powerful aid of our magnanimous and valiant ally, the Emperor Napoleon, and we arrived, in a few days after victory upon upon victory, at the banks of the Mincio, and to-day I come back among you to tell you that Heaven has granted your wishes. An armistice, followed by preliminary of peace, secures the people of Lombardy of their independence.

According to your desire many times expressed, you will henceforth form with an ancient state one single and free family. I take your destiny under my directions, and hope to find in you that concurrence which the chief of a state needs in order to create a new administration. I tell you people of Lombardy to trust in your King. Established on a solid and imperishable basis he will procure happiness for a new country which Heaven has entrusted to his government.
